

West Virginia Agrarian Commons

Farm Acquisition Funding Details

With your support, Agrarian Trust will support the West Virginia Agrarian Commons in purchasing the 82 acre Whitlock Farm in Fayetteville, West Virginia. Whitlock Farm is valued at $225,000 and Agrarian Trust has secured an option agreement to purchase the farm once funds are raised. Once acquired, the property will be transferred to the West Virginia Agrarian Commons and two 99+ year leasehold interests will be conveyed to both New Roots Community Farm and a new emerging agricultural producer cooperative focused on food production, respectively.

Following the acquisition, the Agrarian Commons will continue to engage philanthropic and investment capital to support critical farm investment projects and land stewardship, management, and endowment funds to ensure long term sustainability and viability of the farms and Commons for generations to come.
